The purpose of the Foundation Years website, funded by the Department for Education, is to enable early years practitioners to keep up-to-date with policy, legislation and research and to share best practice. Ultimately, the goal is to increase the understanding and confidence of everyone working in early years.

This survey invites you to tell the National Children’s Bureau about your current level of knowledge and confidence in different areas of early years policy and practice, so they can identify gaps and opportunities for developing the website.
